

AAM Graduate Program

www.aamig.com.au

The Program includes:

- Five agribusiness rotations for a 20-month term
- Opportunity to work across different industries within agribusiness all over the country
- Receive mentorship and support from different industry business leaders
- Work in a supportive and collaborative environment with people who share your passion for agriculture

Eligibility for the AAM Graduate Program:

- Graduates must have completed a Bachelor degree as a minimum by the time the Graduate Program commences, you will need to have completed studies in one of the following areas; agriculture, business, science, economics and/or finance
- Be willing and able to relocate to regional areas throughout rotations, accommodation will be provided
- Be curious and keen to learn our business, be adaptable and passionate

“During my first rotation in the Brisbane office, I had the opportunity to work with AAM’s sustainability team. I learnt how the broader business acts within the three pillars of sustainability - ‘Plant, People and Prosperity’. I am currently at Sunshine Farms Aggregation located near Forbes, NSW. I am really enjoying learning more about active management decisions and how the resulting strategies are put in place to derive further productivity and efficiency. I am looking forward to my upcoming rotations and the careers and networking opportunities that AAM’s Graduate Program offers.”

Annabelle Sterns, Graduate 2022
(pictured, right)

“Throughout my first rotation in the Brisbane office, I had the opportunity to assist teams in the different operating entities which allowed me to gain an understanding of the business strategy. I am currently at Legune Station and have had exposure to many facets of the operation. I have been working closely with the management team analysing operational performance alongside assisting them with reporting requirements and business cases. At Legune, I get a great balance in my role and have loved getting out and spending time with the stock camp, mustering and processing cattle.”

Hugo Ridge, Graduate 2022

Interested? AAM are currently accepting applications, please send your resume to careers@aamig.com.au or fill in the form using the QR Code.

